Notes:

1. This list has been compiled from information recorded on the Australian Made and Owned Food Facebook page. It is a dynamic document which will change continually. It may not be 100% accurate but I am confident that it is close.
2. If you are aware that a product or company listed is not Australian made or owned, please contact me through Messenger to Admin and I will amend the list. Also, if you know of a company or product that is not on the list and should be, please let me know through Messenger to Admin.
3. If you comment on the Australian Made and Owned Food FB page, I may miss it because of all the activity, so please use Messenger.
4. Please do not send me information about boutique breweries or Australian wineries. This list is for food. I have included Coopers on the list because, as far as I can tell, it is the only Australian owned company producing beer that is available Australia wide.
5. Just because there is a product or company listed under a State or Territory does not mean it is only available in that area. Google is your friend. Use it to see if the product is available in your area and where.
6. Please feel free to share the list with your family and friends but please acknowledge that it came from the Australian Made and Owned Food Facebook page. Invite your family and friends to join the page.
7. To display this list on your mobile phone you will probably need a PDF reader app.
